

UNITED STATES WILL OBSERVE BASTILLE DAY

To Celebrate Today
in Honor of Heroic
France

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Bastille Day will be celebrated tomorrow by America in honor of the heroic part France is playing in the defense of the liberties of the world. President Wilson today ordered that the French flag be displayed over all public buildings and ships at home and abroad and had a special flagstaff placed on the white house to fly the national emblem of France besides the stars and stripes.

President's Message.

Tonight the president sent the following message to President Poincare:

"America greets France on this day of stirring memories with a heart full of warm friendship and of devotion to the great cause in which the two peoples are now so happily united. July 14th, like our own July 4th has taken on a new significance not only for France but for the world. As France celebrated her Fourth of July so do we celebrate her Fourteenth keenly conscious of a comradeship of arms and of arms and purpose of which we are proud. The sea seems very narrow now, France being so close to our hearts. We extend our hands to each other, to the great peoples with whom we are associated and to the peoples everywhere who love right and prove justice as a thing beyond price, and consecrate ourselves once more to the noble enterprise of peace and justice, realizing the great conceptions that have lifted France and America high among the free peoples of the world.

"The French flag flies today from the staff of the white house and America is happy to honor that flag."

Secretary Daniels has been designated to attend the Bastille Day meeting at New York as the president's personal representative. The British and French ambassadors will be among the speakers.

Greetings of American labor to the workmen of France were sent tonight by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor in a message to L. Joubert at Paris. Mr. Gompers expressed regret that the invitation to send delegates to the labor congress at Limoges July 15 was received too late for its acceptance and concluded:

"Permit me to express through you to the workers of France the good will and fraternity of the workers of America. We are ready to fight shoulder to shoulder with the men of France and the other allied countries until the cause of freedom and human justice has been achieved. Four minute men of the committee on public instruction have instructions to read tonight and tomorrow to the 35,000,000 people they address a message to the people of France, which has been given to Ambassador Jusserand for transmission.

Resolutions will be adopted approving the message, which closes with the "voice of America proclaims today with one accord long live, long live—France."

Secretary Baker tonight made this statement at the war department:

"Comrades at the beginning of the Democratic careers, France and the United States are again brought here in arms in democracy's defense. Our present battle has yet to fall, but the spirit of 1776 and 1789, alive today in the hearts of both armies, and peoples, insures that it is fast nearing its doom. And when it topples there will be established a new historic date marking the liberation not of a people only, but of mankind—an anniversary in the commemoration of which all free nations will delight to join."

Secretary Daniels sent to the French minister of marines a message rejoicing that our "two republics join in the celebration of the Fourth and Fourteenth of July—two days that open two doors to men seeking for liberty" and Charles M. Schwab, director general of the emergency fleet corporation sent a message telling France "we mean to stand with her to the end."

BASEBALL CLASSIFIED AS ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY

Local Board in East Orange, N. J., Makes Ruling Under War or Flight Order.

New York, July 13.—Baseball was classified as an essential industry under the work or flight order by a local draft board in East Orange, N. J., in deciding today an appeal by Joseph Finneran, a pitcher for the New York Americans. Finneran was notified by the board that since he could support his wife and child better by playing baseball than in any other way he could remain with his team. His classification in the draft was 4-A.

Finneran recently was asked by the draft board if there was any good reason why his occupation should not be changed under the order to work or flight issued by Provost Marshal General Crowder. He replied that he had a wife and child dependent for support upon his ability as a ball player and in no other occupation could he support them as well. The board then notified him that he would be permitted to earn his living at professional baseball.

It is the first instance, it was said when the appeal of a player from an order to change his occupation had been sustained on the ground that his work was necessary.

CHINA IS BUILDING U. S. MERCHANT SHIPS

Added to List of Ship Building Nations to Help Defeat Germany.

Washington, July 13.—China has been added to the list of nations building merchant ships to help defeat Germany. The shipping board today awarded to the Chinese government yard at Shanghai contracts for four cargo vessels of ten thousand tons each and took options for the building of 80,000 more tons.

The entire program will involve expenditure of $30,000,000. Approximately 35,000 tons of steel will be shipped from this country to the Chinese yard, and other equipment will be built in China. Deliveries are to begin six months after the steel is received.

Officials here regard the contracts as one of the most interesting developments of the war destined to cement cordial feeling between the United States and the new republic of the orient. The Chinese government yard known as the Kiangnan Dock and Engine Works was established in 1840 and ranks as one of the best fitted and most efficient yards of the world.

R. B. Mauchan, a Scotch engineer of prominence manager of the yard since 1904, negotiated the contracts as representative of the Chinese minister of navy, whose department has control of the plant.

Possibility of equipping the ships in China is one of the most satisfactory features of the contract from the American point of view. A shortage of engines and boilers in this country has been retarding completion of the wooden ships the railroad administration has obtained in China, leaving only steel plates and shapes to be supplied from here.

BASEBALL TO BECOME INTERNATIONAL SPORT

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Baseball promises to become truly the agency of the war an international sport according to Harry R. Stringer of the war department commission on arranging activities, who has just returned from making a survey of recreational and relief facilities among the American overseas forces. He accompanied Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the commission.

It really takes a trip to the front to make one realize that baseball is the national game of America," said Mr. Stringer today. "I saw our boys playing from London to Paris right up to the front line trenches. Most of the units have their own teams, leagues have been formed and the men take as much interest in the fortunes of their respective lines as they do in the big league races at home."

WAR SUMMARY

News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

Rainy weather in northern France has caused a thorough soaking of the ground, particularly in the low lying portions of the battle front, and not inconsiderably has had something to do with the delay of the Germans in renewing their offensive.

It is a month now since the last offensive died down, swamped by the tide of a French success on the banks of the Matz, north of Compiègne, and there is as yet no sign of the enemy's being ready to strike again.

Meanwhile the allies have been pushing back the German lines, step by step, at various important points, hardly a day going by without a French or British attack having gained valuable defensive ground and resulted as well in tank. These, in the aggregate, the taking of thousands of German prisoners.

Meanwhile the German diplomats are again airing their war aims programs and engaging in peace discussions among themselves. The German chancellor has touched upon this vital question of Belgium in the relation of that nation to peace and has declared that Germany does not intend to retain that country in any form whatever. She is holding it as a pawn in the negotiations, he asserted, and the German government finds it expedient to explain this utterance in an official statement in which it is declared that as holder of a pawn does not intend to keep it "if the negotiations bring a satisfactory result."

Germany, also, is exercised at the situation in Russia, if the utterances of her newspapers go for anything. The idea that the Bolsheviks are retaining power by the veriest thread is deflected in advice to some of the German organs and the fear that the Bolsheviks will fall and with it the elaborate edifice erected in the German interest by the Brest-Litovsk treaty is openly expressed. Disquietude over the hold the Czechoslovaks have secured upon Siberia and at the prospect of an allied descent into interior Russia "from the north," the German coast, evidently being meant, is likewise voiced. In this connection it may be noted, it was announced in Washington yesterday that British reinforcements have been sent to Siberia to assist the Russians and Czechoslovaks in protecting the allied stores at Vladivostok.

Washington advices reflect the view there that further and more definite peace feelers may be expected from Germany, which is felt in high quarters to have her eyes turned to the East with the gaining of control in Russia outweighing in her estimation all that she might have been inclined to make an effort to retain upon the western front.

Washington military effort, meanwhile, is growing apace, it being announced by the chief of staff in Washington that the number of troops dispatched to France has grown to 1,100,000, some 90,000 men having left in the past week. The formation of three army corps from comprising from 225,000 to 250,000 men, was also made known.

The Albanian campaign, although entirely subsidiary to the operations on the western front, has continued to be the most active theater of war so far as extensive gains of ground are concerned. The advance was mainly by the Italian army with the French on the right flank has already reached a maximum depth of 22 miles on a front of some 80 miles, straightening the allied line as it runs from the Adriatic and links up with the Macedonian front.

MANAGING EDITOR OF N. Y. TRIBUNE RESIGNS

NEW YORK, July 13.—News-papers today published an announcement that Dr. Ernest Gruening had ceased his connection as managing editor of the New York Tribune. Ogden Mills Reid, publisher of the Tribune, in confirming reports of Dr. Gruening's retirement, said that "the reasons were purely internal."

Dr. Gruening, speaking of the affair and the fact that he lived in the same apartment house as Dr. Edward Rumely, formerly of the Evening Mail, now under charges of perjury in connection with the ownership of the Mail, said that the war had nothing to do with his leaving the Tribune and so far as Dr. Rumely was concerned, he "did not know the man."

BRITISH TROOPS TO REINFORCE CZECH-SLOVAKS

Tommies to Support
Russians Controlling
Vladivostok

WASHINGTON, July 13.—News of despatch of British reinforcements to Siberia to support Czechoslovaks and Russians controlling Vladivostok and a long stretch of the trans-Siberian railroad, was received here today thru official channels. Apparently whatever may come of plans for allied and American military intervention in Russia on a great scale the hard fighting Czechoslovaks are to be given by the allies aid necessary to prevent them from being crushed by Bolshevik forces operating with released German prisoners.

Just what British forces have been despatched is not known here nor is it clear whether the movement is part of a general plan of action determined on in the absence of American approval and co-operation in an intervention program. British, American and Japanese marines and blue-jackets are already ashore at Vladivostok guarding war stores.

There was nothing today to indicate President Wilson had changed his view that a military expedition to Siberia could not be undertaken without weakening the front in Europe. Until he is satisfied on this point, he is expected to commit the United States to nothing beyond the extensive plan for economic aid for Russia.

Pursuing Bolsheviks.

Peking, Monday, July 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Czechoslovak forces which captured Nikolsk, northwest of Vladivostok, are now closely pursuing Bolshevik troops which are retreating toward Khabarovsk. Czechoslovaks are receiving assistance from a force of 1500 Cossacks and a number of Chinese and Japanese volunteers. Railway and telegraph communications have been opened with Vladivostok.

Defeated Near Chita.

Harbin, Manchuria, Monday, July 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Czechoslovak forces have defeated Russian Bolsheviks near Chita, the trans-Siberian railway of Transbaikalia.

General Horvath and other members of the Siberian government left Harbin today for Nikolsk to open negotiations for an alliance with Czechoslovaks.

Ten hostile airplanes were brought down. In Albania our troops maintain contact with the enemy on his new line north of the Semani. East of the lower Devoll retreating columns of the enemy were dispersed by our detachments Thursday night. Between the Semani and the Voyusa, the clearing of the ground and the gathering up of booty continues. The number of prisoners taken since July 10 is more than 1,800."

FORM THREE CORPS FROM U. S. TROOPS NOW IN FRANCE

Exact Organization of Corps Given By March

Washington, July 13.—In announcing today that American troops already abroad or in transit have passed the 1,100,000 mark, General March, chief of staff, also disclosed that three army corps of American troops now have been organized in France.

Each contains 225,000 to 250,000 men of the regulars, national army and national guard. Major General Hunter Liggett, temporarily commands the first corps; the two other commanders have not been selected, but when the corps commanders finally are selected they will have the rank of lieutenant generals.

Besides this the chief of staff disclosed important information of the exact troops which go to make up the corps. This information never has been given before to the people at home.

The rate of transportation of troops to France, General March said, was keeping up with previous months. More than 90,000 troops were transported last week alone. The most important developments of the week, the chief of staff points out, had been in the Albanian theater of war.

There is no indication at the war department of when the next German thrust will come on the western front, but all the allied commanders are confident of their ability to withstand it.

The most striking advance has been made in Albania, where, aided by British and Italian monitors, operating from the sea, a general advance over a crescent-shaped sector of 80 miles in length, has been made, the advance being 22 miles at its deepest point. The former crescent into the allied line there has been wiped out and a straight front substituted.

The advance was carried out largely by Italian troops, General March said, but they were assisted on the right flank by French. General March said no official reports attempting to explain the delay in the German offensive had reached the war department. He indicated his own opinion, however, that the time that has now elapsed since the last German drive is not greater than would have been necessary to prepare adequately for an assault of the scope of that which the Germans are believed to be contemplating.

Corps Organization.

In announcing the organization of the army corps, General March showed that five regular, national guard and four national army divisions have been used to make up three corps.

The first division regulars, commanded by Major-General Robert L. Bullard; second division regulars, Major-General Omar Bundy; Twenty-sixth National Guard, Major-General Clarence R. Eder; Forty-second National Guard (Rainbow), Major-General Charles T. Menhor; Forty-first National Guard (Sunset), Major-General Hunter Liggett; Thirty-second National Guard (Michigan and Wisconsin troops), Major-General W. G. Haan.

Two Field Armies By 1919.

Washington, July 13.—Reduction by half the time it was originally estimated it would take to put America's first field army in France was disclosed today with the formal announcement by General March that three full army corps had been organized by General Pershing and that the number of soldiers sent overseas now numbers more than 1,100,000. The eighteen divisions comprising the corps, consisting of four regular, nine national guard and five national army divisions, probably will compose the first army which, with supplemental army troops such as heavy artillery will total a million men.

Instead of one field army on January 1, 1919, as originally planned it now appears probable that two such armies will be operating in France by that date backed by full American built and maintained supply lines. The great project of establishing the American army as the right flank of the battle line will then be within sight.

General March said organization of the first field artillery had not been completed. Formation of the three corps, however, and his announcement that troop movements to France were proceeding at the same astonishing rate that has been the rule for the last three months made the American military program clear.

NAVAL AVIATOR KILLED BY FALL

CHATHAM, Mass., July 13.—Ensign Andrews, a naval aviator was killed and Ensign Parks probably fatally injured in the fall of a seaplane on the beach here today. The machine crashed to earth and instantly caught fire.

The seaplane started out from the aviation camp in a fog and apparently the pilot lost his bearings. Members of a coast guard crew who witnessed the fall said the seaplane was in the moment of the crash. The machine was destroyed and both aviators were terribly burned. No hope is entertained for Parks' recovery.

By a vote of 46 to 16—the minority all Republican—the senate adopted without amendment the house resolution granting such power for the period of the war. The resolution will be signed by presiding officers of the senate and house and transmitted to the president Monday.

All attempts to amend or modify the administration measure which passed the house July 5 by a vote of 221 to 4 were defeated at a session lasting until 9 o'clock tonight. Amendment by Senator Watson of Indiana, except telephones and press, failed respectively 41 to 20 and 3 to 21. "YANKEE LAND."

Two little details of Secretary Baker's testimony before the House Military Affairs Committee give a gratifying glimpse into the inner soul of the American army. "In France," he said, "it was necessary to change the name of the zone behind the armies from the 'service of the rear' to 'service of supply,' because of the difficulty in getting men to serve in a region having the shell-proof connotation of the word 'rear.' And as for 'No Man's Land,' familiar in news dispatches since the beginning of the war, our men will not tolerate the name at all. 'They prefer to call it—and make it—'Yankee land.' He adds that 'a surprisingly large proportion of recruits ask to be placed in the most hazardous branches of the military service.' It is exactly what we might have expected from our general knowledge of American youth.

WARTIME DEBT.

In times like these keep out of debt; your solvency's your one best bet. So long as you don't owe a cent to any swayed human agent, you have the right to look ahead, without a bit of fear.

or dread. The times are weird, uncertain, tense; no man has such prophetic sense that he can say what griefs in stock tomorrow mean at 10 o'clock. We only know that prices rise until they scratch along the skies; we only know they won't go down while Mars still wears his business frown. Today you're husky, sound and hale, and fit to gather in the kale. Tomorrow you may have disease, or break your legs off at the knees. Today you have a job that's good, you whistle as you saw your wood; tomorrow you may be informed you've lost the place you long have warmed it hard luck hands you, thus, a poke, what will you do if you are broke? You cannot borrow fifty cents from any easy going gents, for in these times of grief and groans each guy requires his stock of bones. Be prudent now and put away some guilders for the rainy day! And size up debt for what it is—a monster with a genial phiz, a thing that hides deceit and glaze behind a bland, adorning smile.

C. N. PRIEST,
The Ford Man.

FROM COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

Spring Wheat vs. Oats.—Altho this is too far south to be counted as a spring wheat country yet the fields on T. H. Buckthorpe's and L. S. Doane's farms have shown that spring wheat may prove to us a very present help in time of trouble. In the opinion of a number of farmers who viewed the fields, spring wheat may prove a more profitable crop than oats.

Fine Quality of Winter Wheat
In Morgan County.—The County Agent compared the hard winter wheat delivered at Murrayville, Strawn's Crossing, Sinclair and Prentice with some No. 1 Northern Spring of Marquis variety brought last year from Minnesota. Altho it is difficult to compare Turkey Red and Marquis wheat, yet in the opinion of elevator managers and farmers the Morgan County product was just as good as the northern grown. Only a careful moisture test and perhaps a milling test would show which is best. If the fine weather continues, Morgan County will quiet likely be credited with some No. 1 wheat this year.

A Larger Acreage of Wheat for 1919.—A campaign has been launched in Illinois for a larger wheat acreage for 1919. Farmers are encouraged to seed from 20 to 25% of their tillable land to wheat. In doing this they are advised to follow a crop rotation, that will be in keeping with the Illinois system of permanent agriculture. The standard Illinois rotation in this system is corn, oats seeded with clover, wheat. In this system clover is turned under and seeded to wheat.

Get Seed Wheat Now.—Farmers have the right to keep seed wheat on their farms. They are advised to get a supply of clean seed wheat adapted to their locality a once Turkey Red is perhaps the best variety for most parts of Morgan County.

Standard Illinois Rotation.
The standard Illinois rotation is corn, oats seeded with clover, wheat. In a system of grain farming the clover is clipped when the blossoms first begin to show pink, and the whole energy of the plant given over to producing a seed crop. After the seed crop has been removed, the sod is turned under and seeded to winter wheat. The volunteer clover in the wheat together with that from the hulled clover, will result in having clover on the fields three years out of four. This rotation is planned as a soil builder.

The field of wheat of A. M. Masters, northeast of Murrayville, yielded 2,290 bushels on 52 acres. This is at the rate of 44 bushels, 2 lbs. to the acre. This field of wheat was grown on clover sod to which rock phosphate was added at the rate of 1 1/4 tons to the acre. This wheat was stored in the elevator at Murrayville and will quite likely go out of this county as No. 1 hard.

FLOYD WILLIAMSON IN NEW NAVY WORK

Floyd Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Williamson, who enlisted some weeks ago at the Great Lakes Naval Training station and was assigned to the publicity department, is now traveling with a group of Jackies in the work of securing recruits. Mr. Williamson, who has newspaper experience, is serving as "advance" man. He precedes the party a day or two and places the desired publicity with the newspapers. The present tour will include cities in four or five different states. The work is to do some general recruiting and also to secure men for special lines of mechanical work.

PATRIOTISM AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

A petition was recently filed asking the city council to call a special election and let the people again vote upon the question of having Jacksonville abandon the commission form of government and return to the aldermanic form. In compliance with this petition the council has passed an ordinance calling an election for an early date in August. When an election was held on this same subject a year or two ago the Journal took the position that no good would come to the city by making the change to the old aldermanic form, and adheres now to that position.

It is granted that the city is in a very bad way financially and that the commission form of government has not brought all the joys and benefits that its sponsors thought would happen. It is likewise true that practically every other city in the state of Illinois is in the same kind of financial stress. The only saving that the proposed change could make would be in the matter of salaries paid to the mayor and commissioners.

There is no reason for thinking that a mayor and twelve aldermen of better business ability and character than the men who have served the city under the commission form of government would be chosen if the city were to return to the aldermanic plan. As a whole the men elected to office in the aldermanic days were not superior to the men who have held office since those days. There is certainly nothing to be gained by a city in switching back and forth between two systems of government. The weak points about both forms of government are known and if there is a change now it should be to some third form—something accounted as an advance over the two plans which have been tried during the years that are now gone.

It must be recognized that times have changed for cities just as well as for individuals, and that the increased cost of doing business these days applies with just as much force to municipalities as it does to individuals. It is a well known fact that the dollar the private citizen spends today does not buy more than half the amount that it did ten years ago. This applies just in the same way to the municipalities. Manifestly some way must be found to either curtail municipal expenditure or to increase the revenue, and quite probably both of these things should happen for the benefit of the city.

These are war times and there is a justified demand for sacrifice and service such as has never been given by people before. This applies to all sorts of war activities and why should not the same patriotic spirit be manifested in home city affairs.

Men and women willingly sacrifice their time and money for Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus work and for a half a dozen other kinds of war activities. They make almost equal sacrifices for educational and charitable causes. The trustees of local colleges are for the most part busy men, yet they are quite willing to devote the necessary time to the business affairs of these colleges. Members of the Jacksonville board of education have very important matters in hand which make constant inroads upon their time, and they handle annually a considerably larger sum of money than that which goes into the coffers of the city. The board has on its payroll more than seventy people, yet the men and women on this board, because of their interest in education and in the city schools, are very willing to perform the service without pay.

Why, then, at least for the war period, is it not a reasonable and feasible proposition that qualified citizens might be found who will fill the offices of mayor and commissioner for the next term without salary, or drawing merely a nominal salary in order not to disturb the provisions of the law. The men—or women, if you please—might serve in these offices very much as the directors of business institutions or as the trustees of colleges and schools. They might employ one general manager or superintendent to take charge of the various departments of city business or they might make their appointments of department heads direct.

In normal times perhaps it would not be reasonable to ask such sacrifices on the part of citizens, but in these days when the spirit of "service and sacrifice" is rife, is there anything unreasonable or unbusinesslike in suggesting that citizens of Jacksonville apply the same generous impulses toward the conduct of their home city affairs that they are so well applying along other lines.

Think about it and then ask yourself squarely whether some such plan as this will not be far better than a change to the old aldermanic form, with its various drawbacks which will readily come to mind if you turn back the pages of municipal history.

White Hall, July 13.—Mrs. Maria Couchman, widow of the late William Couchman, died at 9 o'clock last night at her home on Jacksonville street, following an illness of several weeks with asthma. At the age of 18 years she and William Couchman were married at Carrollton, and they have resided in White Hall practically all of the time since, she having resided here continually for 33 years. Mr. Couchman died in March, 1913. Harry, a son, is the only child, and he resides in Oklahoma. THE BOYS' CAMP AT MEREDOSIA.

At the meeting held at the Y. M. C. A., arrangements for the camp which is to be held at Meredosia during the first ten days of August were discussed and some few details worked out. It was decided to limit the number of boys of the camp to twenty, so it will be necessary for any of those wishing to go to sign up immediately, as the limited number will soon be secured. Only boys ranging from 12 to 16 years of age will make the trip. Five boys signed up to the Saturday afternoon. The expenses of the camp will amount to about eight dollars for each boy. A regular program and daily routine of work will be followed out. This program and work will be published later. The people of Meredosia have been helping very much with the preparations for the camp by furnishing the grounds, boats, and a great amount of equipment.

Last year the camp was held in a building, but this year every one will live in tents and enjoy real camp life. This will mean a change somewhat of the necessary things for each boy to take along, from those taken last year.

Emphatically Asserts Worn Out, Lagging Men Can Quickly Become Vigorous and Full of Ambition

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food. Given the right kind of medicine any tired-out, inactive, lagging fellow can quickly be made into a real, live, energetic and even ambitious man.

So says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-feren at any drugstore.

This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending because it is not expensive and it speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despaired of ever amounting to anything in life.

People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks. No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-feren at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bed-time—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone.

Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded, keen-minded men possess, your purchase money will be gladly returned.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren, it is printed on every package. Here it is: Leithin; Calcium Glycerophosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin; Capsicum; Kola.

OPERA HOUSE LESSEES SURRENDER PROPERTY

Messrs. Hopper & Hofman Will No Longer Operate Theater and Hotel.

According to announcement made Saturday by Messrs. Hopper & Hofman, lessees of the Grand Opera House building, their lease expires tomorrow and they have surrendered possession of the property to the owner, John Anderson, of Springfield. The hotel furniture and fixtures were sold to Harry R. Hart, and equipment in the theater proper has been removed. Practically all of the furnishings were the property of the lessees. A large amount of repair work is needed in the theatre and in other parts of the building, and the lessees decided that the best course was to make no effort to take advantage of the right to renew their lease.

For two years or more Messrs. Hopper & Hofman owned the building and since that time they have operated as the lessees in a satisfactory and profitable way. Their effort has been at all times to present high class attractions and the house closes with the good will of the amusement loving people of Jacksonville and contiguous territory.

Just what are the plans of Mr. Anderson, owner of the building, is not known, as he is a resident of Springfield and has not been in Jacksonville for a number of days.

CAREFULLY PLAN ALL RECREATION FEATURES

COMMITTEES ON TRAINING CAMP ACTIVITIES ALWAYS BUSY.

Carried Out Commands Admiration of Those Who Knew—Soldiers' Hours Off Duty Are Made Pleasant—Home Influence and Touch Is Brought to the Cantonment.

Only some one who has spent weeks and months in touch with an army training camp can have a thorough understanding of the work which is being done under the auspices of the Army and Navy Committee on Training Camp Activities. Mrs. F. G. Norbury, wife of Lieut. Norbury, has just returned to Jacksonville from Camp Deven, Mass., where for more than three months she has been with Lieut. Norbury, and as the wife of an officer has taken some part in the work outlined under direction of the committee. In conversation with various Jacksonville friends Mrs. Norbury has given some very interesting details of the service which is being given by the committee, and the story is of a kind which must appeal strongly to those who have sons or brothers or other relatives at army cantonments. What is being done at Camp Deven is done in very much the same way at practically all of the other army cantonments, for the army and navy committee on training activities is a national organization, with headquarters at Washington, and the program is of a national scope. This committee has general direction not only of the activities inaugurated thru its own organization, but also the Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus, and that of some other organizations purposing to add pleasure to, and safeguard, the American soldiers at the camps.

Two Soldier Clubs.
At Camp Deven there are eleven Y. M. C. A. huts and three of the Knights of Columbus. The war camp community service maintains two soldiers' clubs, one of these inside the cantonment limits and the other in the town of Ayer, which is only about a half mile distant. At these clubs excellent cafeterias are maintained and there are various conveniences and attractions which are not accorded in the Y. M. C. A. or Knights of Columbus huts. At the club at Ayer the soldiers are privileged to bring their women friends and it is there that mothers or sisters or other relatives who come to the cantonment to visit their soldiers always make headquarters. One bit of service that the committee performs is in keeping a constantly up-to-date list of rooms available in the town of Ayer or in other nearby towns where relatives of soldiers may be temporarily housed. The committee, in placing visitors or soldiers on brief furloughs, have in mind the fitness of surroundings and try to so place people that all parties concerned will be comfortable and well satisfied.

The committee has a complete list of parks, picture theatres, libraries and all possible places of amusement in the various cities and towns which are within the entertainment area of the cantonment, and in this populous region there are five or six such cities and towns. These places of amusement are listed in "Joy" books, which are available for all soldiers at any time. In the various lines of entertainment the committee has found nothing is so popular as the dances which they give twice a year. The plan followed is to invite 150 soldiers to each dance and to provide practically that number of young ladies, the most of whom enter into the project in following their wish to assist in the general program of entertaining the soldiers during leisure hours. The committee, of course, has a large force of workers at the camp, including many officers' wives and women resident in Ayer. They also have assistants in the various neighboring towns.

Dancing Party Etiquette.

In planning for a dancing party the committee calls upon a number of chaperones who are listed among the workers, to provide the required number of young women. For example, a chaperone in a nearby town will be notified that she will be expected to bring to the dancing party on the following Wednesday evening 20 young women from her town. It is her duty to accompany these girls to the dancing party and then take them to their homes. The 150 soldiers who are expected for a certain evening receive formal invitations, transmitted thru their officers. The invitations are sent with instructions that the officers really approve and recommend the young men who are to attend. Each soldier must have his card of admission and a list of men attending is kept so that all may have the opportunity of attending the dances before invitations are again extended.

At the dances the soldiers are introduced in the regular way to the young ladies and the dancing program continues from 7 to 10 p. m., music being furnished by some one of the army bands. The soldiers are exceedingly enthusiastic about these dance events and the very nicest girls in Ayer and in all the surrounding community are those who attend. The fact is that at these dances the surroundings are just as correct and well ordered as could possibly be the case in the homes of the girls or the soldiers.

It should have been stated that the soldiers who attend are selected from the list of those who have signed their wish to attend and the opportunity to enroll is given to all men in the camp. For the men who do not know how to dance, classes are maintained, and this is really one of the most entertaining features of the service, and the men seem to hugely enjoy the dance class programs given under the direction of an Italian sergeant who in his pre-war days was an expert in this teaching work.

The Important Place of Women.
This somewhat detailed story of the dancing parties and programs is given to illustrate the social interest that the committee has in the men and there are numerous ways in which this interest is shown. Those who are in touch with the general recreational program of cantonments realize how important a part women have in that program. It is the recognition of that fact which has led to the decision to have hostesses in army Y. M. C. A. huts. The men have declared that it is the presence of women that they miss most. They do not care whether or not the women are young or old, so they are of a type that they have known and appreciated in their days at home. The women who engage in the recreational activities have daily examples of what the opportunity to see and talk with women means to many of these boys who are away from home influences for the first time in their lives. Women are often appealed to in personal affairs which under some other circumstances might not seem important but which in the life of the soldier at such a time are really of the greatest moment.

One item of the community service at Camp Deven is the maintenance of two canteens. One of these is stationed at Shiloh, a point which is frequently reached by the soldiers from the camp on early morning hikes. Everything is sold at a price simply to pay expenses.

Workers Earnest and Sincere.
Altho Mrs. Norbury has had little to say about her own participation in the recreational activities, it is known to a number of her Jacksonville friends that she was an ardent worker and found great pleasure in the real opportunity for service thus afforded. Speaking of the work in general, Mrs. Norbury said, "It would certainly be both a comforting and a pleasant realization for the relatives of enlisted men if they could visit the camps and thus see how carefully the pleasures of the soldiers are guarded and how sincere and earnest is the work of the training camp committee in providing wholesome amusement. There are of necessity a few paid workers, but for the most part the men and women who engage in this service are inspired by a real desire to be of use, and, furthermore, because of their sincere interest in the young men of the army, who represent the best in the life of America today."

They were advised by other shopmen not to go out but voted to walk out immediately.

One hundred laundry workers in this city also went on strike today, asking for an eight hour day and increase in wages.

JOHN SWAIN AN AVIATOR INSTRUCTOR

One of Lieutenants Who Made Flight with Baseball Players From Brooks Field to Corpus Christi—Newspaper Comment.

The numerous friends of Lieut. John Swain, who is now instructor in aviation at Mathers field, Sacramento, Cal., will be interested in knowing about his work. A California paper of recent date has a story of a base ball game between the Fifth Engineers and the Brooks field baseball nine at Corpus Christi. This is the first time in base ball history that the ball players have been transported from one city to another by aeroplane. The nine aeroplanes which conveyed the men left Brooks field at 8:30 and arrived at Corpus Christi, 150 miles distant, at 11:45.

When the Brooks Field base ball nine, composed of officers from the field, many of whom have been champions of Harvard, University of Chicago and other large universities and colleges, were challenged by the officers' team of the Fifth Engineers stationed at Corpus Christi, it was decided to make the trip a distinctive aviation event and transport the Brooks Field players by airship. The plan was successfully carried out. One of the nine ships was piloted by Lieut. Swain.

Baseball Rivalry.

Another newspaper in telling of this very unusual sports event, had this interesting comment:

"This baseball rivalry between Camp Scurry and Brooks Field all sprang from an innocent remark one day to the effect that the birdmen might be heard eating in the air, but they could not be counted for much on terra firma."

"The reply of the Brooks Fielders was to the effect that they were as clever in the dust as in the ozone. Someone then suggested pool. The Birdmen agreed to this if they would be permitted to use their 'ships' as they call their planes. The Engineers held out for horses in spite of their experience with equitation.

"Someone else suggested hand grenades at forty paces. Finally the national pastime was decided on."

CONSERVATION CONFERENCE

A meeting of the food conservation chairmen of the 20th district has been called by Mrs. J. Parker Doan, district chairman. It will be held at a luncheon at the Peacock Inn next Thursday, July 18, at 12:30 o'clock. The precinct chairmen of Morgan county are also asked to be present for a conference which will follow the district program.

WELFARE WORK

AT WAVERLY.

The campaign for baby welfare work was started in Waverly Saturday with splendid success. Mrs. A. L. Adams, chairman of the Baby Welfare work gave an interesting address at the meeting and after the address the babies were measured and weighed. Forty four babies were brought to the meeting. The work was in charge of Mrs. W. E. Barrows, chairman of the Welfare work there and she was assisted by Miss Helen Morrison of Jacksonville. This is just the beginning of the campaign and it is expected the number of babies will be increased at the next meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp and children plan to leave Monday or Tuesday for Old Mission, Mich., to spend a number of weeks.

Letters of Interest from Jacksonville Boys in the Country's Service.

Leo Selby Writes from France.
June 19th, 1918.
American Expeditionary Force.
Dear Folks at Home:

I suppose this letter and the card that you received upon my safe arrival overseas, will to some extent relieve your minds of any worrying, my trip across may have caused you.

I was in the States when the U-Boats made the raid upon our coasts. For a number of days we were not allowed to even write. Everything was under the most strict surveillance. We were each given 9 cards to address to any relatives or friends we might wish.

Well I suppose you would all like to know a lot about my trip. I cannot now tell you of some of the experiences that I would like to, for we were given very strict instructions about certain happenings that must be kept quiet. Nevertheless I will have that much more to tell you when I come back.

I cannot say what date I left. For quite a while we had a nice sea, very smooth, except for two days or near the end of our trip. I surely enjoyed it immensely, and never felt better in my life. But I did see what it was to be sea-sick, for several of the fellows were in a pitiable condition. We had a fine boat, but being awfully crowded, at times there was quite a bit of commotion, especially at the sound of mealtime. Still the eats were so excellent and the boys all so cheerful that we soon forgot our troubles.

I attended mass two Sundays and one week-day morning, while on ship. I sure can say that I never entertained any fear whatever, for when night came and cast its black shadows upon the waters all around our speedy craft, it was no trouble for me.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly, fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.—Adv.

nothing more than a nice long letter from the ones we have left at home.

Will close now, as it is time for "Taps." Don't forget that I will be home again after we win, which will not be a very long time.

Love to you all,

Joyce Masters at Camp Taylor.
Frank M. Masters of Lynville precinct is in receipt of the following letter from his son, Ralph Joyce Masters, who is now in training at Camp Taylor, Ky. In the closing paragraph the writer says he is well and happy and likes army life. His letter follows:

July 5, 5:30 p. m.
Dear Folks:
Received your letter about 5 this evening. Got one this morning also. Mail is delivered twice a day except holidays. I looked for some mail of some kind on Thursday but none came, but managed to wait a day longer. Everybody comes in when mail comes in. The whistle is blowing so will have to quit. 6:30. Have had supper now so guess I can finish this without interruption. Got a good cussin' awhile ago. One of the K. P.'s went to give me a big dose of tomatoes on my plate and I jerked it back thus making quite a splatter. Everybody has to be cussed about so much. You're not a sport if you get by.

Have been here about a week now. Don't know when I have ever been so hot and tired, foot-sore, or ever saw such great sights or had so much fun in so short a time. We got our uniforms Tuesday evening. Mine is a pretty good fit on the whole. Each fellow in our company was given two pair shoes, one hat, two pair pants, one shirt, one coat, 2 pairs of underwear, 3 pairs socks and a suit of work clothes. I forgot—I pair of leggings. I sure is hot to wear leggings. The shoes that are issued sure give the feet a chance to spread out. My shoes rub the leaders just above the heels. The hide is worn off and it is quite an effort to get limbered up after resting a while. They don't bother much when meal time comes tho. I can go up the steps two or three at a time. Everybody can move quick then.

We have to line up at meal time and the fellow that moves the fastest gets the first dish full. We make two lines, each about as long as it is from the barn to the hen house at home and sometimes the grub runs a little short toward the last, so its first come, best first served. This camp, or the part we have been over, is mostly hills. If people could see what has been done here in the last year they would think how fast rather than how slow the U. S. is getting along.

It's a great sight to see men drilling on the drill grounds. It's also great to be one of them. If the Kaiser could see Camp Taylor, I should think it would make him awful dizzy. I don't know how many men are here in training, probably 50,000 or 60,000.

On the 4th we had quite an assembly around the camp flag pole. I saw 30,000 men lined up. Had a fine band, lots of singing and cheering. The Declaration of Independence was read, then came a grand review of all the soldiers in camp. I have no idea how long the line reached. We marched four abreast. It was pretty hot and dusty and good many fellows had to be picked up by Red Cross ambulances.

This was all held in the morning. In the afternoon there was a baseball game. A good many from our Company went but more stayed at the barracks and rested. I did some washing. Washed a couple of towels, a couple pair of socks, underwear and other articles to numerous to mention. Have to use cold water but got them pretty clean in spite of that. Am afraid my bar of laundry soap won't last long. We can buy most everything here on the grounds, but it sure has to be paid for.

Claude G and I went to Y. M. C. A. Thursday night. Had real good program followed by a picture show. They don't give a fellow a chance to feel lonesome or homesick. Have to sing so much every day.

Among the Morgan county boys who are now in the service in France is Carl Birdsall, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Birdsall of route 3, this city. Recently Mrs. Birdsall received from her son the letter given below, advising her that he was now in France and was well and happy. Prior to sailing Mr. Birdsall sent his mother a poem of much merit, entitled "The Slacker," and written by John Hall and Charles L. Davis, members of I Co., 130th U. S. Infantry. His mother has also received from him a souvenir postcard of a military type. The young man's letter, written from overseas, reads as follows:

Dear Mother:
I will drop you a few lines to let you know that I am somewhere in France and getting along just fine. Mother, I do not think it will be long until the war is over, that is, I hope not. I hope everything is getting along all right at home.

I was talking to George once since I arrived here and he was feeling just fine. It is very difficult to get send any mail and that is the reason you do not hear from me any more often. Tell all of the children hello for me, for I cannot write to all of them.

Well, mother, I will close now, hoping to hear from you before a great while.

Love, Your loving son,
Carl Birdsall,
Co. K, 129th Infantry.

HAROLD BRENNAN INJURED IN FRANCE

In a letter under date of June 25, H. Brennan, better known as Harold Brennan, tells of an accident which befell him some time ago. The young man is a motor mechanic in the aviation section of the signal corps, A. E. F., and was severely injured while assisting in the moving of an old ammunition house. He is now being cared for at a field hospital and is making a satisfactory recovery. His letter reads as follows:

June 25, 1918.

Dear Father:-
I received your most welcome letters and the newspapers. The latter are much appreciated but by the time news gets here by mail it is old. Clippings of happenings in Jacksonville are especially welcome. I suppose you are anxious to hear from me. Well, you know what General Sherman said about war. I became acquainted with some of its horror, while a number of us were moving an old ammunition house out of a hollow on to more suitable ground. First we loaded the house onto a large truck. I should judge the house was 12 by 25 feet and 11 feet high. It sure was heavy and we had a considerable number of men to help get it on the truck. Everything went along fine and we reached our destination and started to slip off the truck it was impossible to hold it on account of the enormous weight.

I was in the center of it and before I could get out of the way of the falling house it came down on me. You can imagine with what an awful force it came down on me. The jolt made me see stars for a brief time. I do not know how they managed to extract me from under the house. All I can say is that I am a lucky guy that it did not kill me outright, that I would be one of the many with a wooden cross at the head of the grave.

To my surprise I found I had only one rib broken, but I was badly twisted. My chest felt as if every bone was broken and piercing my lungs. Am at the present time in good shape and feeling fine. The hospital is a field hospital but you can find most every instrument that is used in any first class hospital. I have had the pleasure of seeing an X-ray picture of my broken rib. The care of patients here is of the best, and I will venture to say that you get better treatment in an American army hospital than you could get in a private hospital.

We have lots of sunshine and plenty of daylight and you may be sure we make the best of it. I am very tired and sleepy and so I am going to bring this letter to a close. Give grandmother and the rest by best love and wishes. Hoping to hear from you soon. I am,

Your Son,
John H. Brennan,

The Music at The Jacksonville Chautauqua Aug. 23 to Sept. 1

The management of the Chautauqua believes it has secured as fine music as is possible to be had for the coming assembly. The program is varied and every organization booked is the best to be had of its type.

The following great musical organizations have been secured: The Davies Light Opera Company Friday, August 23, Saturday, August 24.

A company of eleven singers under the leadership of Mr. Harry Davies which is noted for its production of light operas and which is an excellent band of trained singers for prelude and world's greatest symphony orchestra was with us two days last year. The privilege of hearing a select group of players from a great orchestra is one which seldom comes to Chautauquas. The instrumentation of the group is such that their programs are not only orchestra music, but are far more, for they present the artistry of mature men who are at the head of their class, applied to ensemble music, written for their instrumentation. To hear them is to enjoy a treat of revealed musical art.

Their programs are not high-brow, but are popular enough for oughly good quartet and the organization that surpasses it will, in the language of the street, "go some."

The four singers are men with great solo voices, who have been singing together long enough to do fine ensemble work. Their programs are varied and extremely popular. Chautauqua patrons who heard this excellent company two years ago will be delighted at the opportunity of enjoying it this year.

Community Singing.
The management has arranged for several community singings, which will be in charge of competent leaders. The selections used at these singings will be the best known and most popular religious, patriotic and war songs.

Speakers.
The program of speakers and entertainment is not completed. Among speakers already booked are:

Irvin S. Cobb,
Arthur Walwyn Evans,
Private Peat,
Medill McCormick,
Lorado Taft,
C. W. Griffith,
Mrs. Medill McCormick,
James P. Gilbert,
Mrs. Alice S. Houston,

NURSE GIVES VIVID PICTURE OF WAR

Miss Florence Bullard, Well Known to Many Jacksonville Residents, Describes Work of Red Cross Nurse in Hospital at Front.

The thrilling letter given below as written by Miss Florence Bullard, a niece of the late Prof. E. Bullard, who is in the Red Cross nursing service and has been service right behind the battle line. The picture that Miss Bullard gives is vivid, indeed, and indicates very clearly how great is the mental and physical strain upon which the surgeons and nurses at the front must pass, their work calls for the greatest devotion, ability and self-sacrificing patriotism. The letter was received here by Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard and is printed at the suggestion of a number of Miss Bullard's Jacksonville friends:

Dearest Mrs. Dunham, June 2, 1918. I sent a message to Mrs. Frederick, asking her to have Mr. F. send you a letter saying I am well and all right, because I know how anxious you and my family would be when you got the newspapers saying that the attack had begun in Soissons, the very place where I was. You once said that Dows Dunham didn't like it there because there wasn't enough going on. When I took over of wounded in a cave there for six weeks under bombardment—both by cannon and machine guns every day and night, and then things were quiet for three weeks. I had seven days' permission given me in Paris to get my summer underwear and get out of the cave and had just been back seven days when it commenced again. The first shell broke on us at 1 a. m. on Monday, the 27th it was a veritable hell broken loose! I know of no language of mine that could describe it, and if I did try, my letter would never get through. All that day and the following it never let up a minute. Our hospital was struck nine times, corridors caving in and pillars falling. We were told at noon to make all the preparations to leave at any minute, taking as little baggage as possible.

All the equipment was carried to the entrance of the cave ready to load onto the caissons as soon as the night fell. They began loading at 9 o'clock and by 11 the staff also left in caissons. I being the only English speaking person, that was a night that never can be forgotten. The moon was full, the air and only gave a hazy light. We would be held up an hour at any time, waiting to let the procession of troops and cavalry and cross cannon and ammunition pass. It seemed as if miles of them were coming. I could only see the poor, hard-worked horses, all going steadily toward that terrible none of the cannon. I could only look at them thru the little window at the back of the caisson. At 11 a. m. we arrived in a tent beyond Villers Coterets there was the next evacuation hospital. We got the caisson finally in a tent, ready for bed at 5 a. m. and at 6:30 we were awakened and told to hurry to the train as the caissons were arriving in great numbers. There must have been 800 to 1,000 wounded there on stretcher-bearers. They were TREATERED IN SEVERELY WOUNDED.

We had not time to install a thing, for the blessed work never expected soon. We carried our several hypodermics for serum camphorated oil and smaller ones for stimulant and morphine, and each took our alcohol lamp and ran. We had a large force of stretcher-bearers and orderlies, and everything was rushed right in, for our supplies had arrived ahead of us, and the men had begun unpacking and installing the equipment the moment it arrived. Your little lamp and basin that I carried for Mrs. Frederick's use in the attack last fall did constant service again. I don't think it was blown out for twenty-four hours. We re-filled hypodermics kept boiling every minute. We kept only the grave clothes, and other things, and dressings and hypodermics of a serum and stimulant were attended to, hot drinks given and evacuation rect vomit triage, while critical cases were sent to the pavilion and from there to tents.

That went on all day and night, new ones arriving as fast as others went out. It was a busy place. Our ambulance drivers drove up and right after the other, and all the time the steady stream of artillery going east and more troops. Next morning I was changed to a tent with the grave clothes. After operation, I simply ran from one to the other. My chief gave me permission to give hypodermics at my discretion, and oh, how we did work to make them live! It wasn't nursing, you know, there wasn't time for that. Their clothes weren't even taken off for operation. If, for example, the operation was above the waist, the trousers, shoes and socks were left on. They had no time to remove them. You would never have a candle or electric pocket lamp to light your work. You had only the light of the moon coming thru the slanting windows of the tent. It was gruesome, the dying, the moans, the constant "J'ai soif." Well, I cannot talk about it now. I do wish to see you.

TERRIBLE WORK OF NIGHT
The following morning the cannon grew louder and louder and the aviators had done some terrible work during the night, and orders were received that every bleese and nurse must be evacuated. The bleese for the interior and the nurses for the next hospital for evacuation. The train sanitarie arrived at 1 p. m. and the nurses were given a choice of going or staying, and explanation given that if you stayed you might be taken prisoner, and if not, would have to leave on foot. I told my medicine chief I would stay. Because I was an American he feared for me. He felt the responsibility, but accepted, with tears dropping, my service. The head nurse of formation was to remain also, and all the doctors. We would keep only bandages. It was 1 p. m. before the last bleese was loaded on. It was the saddest sight I have ever seen. The stretcher-bearers carrying all that were unable to walk. After the critical cases were on and the new arrivals had come in.

getting to the train the best way they could—for instance, a man with his head or face wounded, would carry on his back a man whose leg was wounded, and one whose arm was wounded might be leading one whose eyes were bandaged.

Just before the train left, they sent us word that the nurses must leave on the train with the others, for the news was bad and our chances too great. So we only had time to throw on our capes, take our bags and get on. Our train had probably 1,000 bleese. We had to change cars after riding at a snail's pace for two and one-half hours. To get to our post we were obliged to change for a train for Paris, and change again, and of course back again, as there was no cross country train. We were running for our train after getting off the sanitarie, when we were held up by three French army doctors and two gendarmes, demanding if we had no papers as leaving at the last moment except for verbal orders. So these doctors said we couldn't leave and could not enter Paris. They said we were military men, and soldiers, and trying to escape by means of the military train from danger under bombardment to a place of safety.

NO SLEEP FOR DAYS
So, after taking down information, he had us guarded while he tried to get the medical inspector of the army from Paris, and change again, and we left long before the orders to give our paper for our other place arrived, and we were still in a desert, with us still had no dry pants, and the odds were against us, and the conditions were serious, and we were away, and so they were probably right. We were given the privilege of sleeping in the train, and were sent, where the officers were all waiting for trains.

We were glad to have even a bunk in a station to lie on and dropped down, using our gas masks for pillows. No sleep for three days, and the alert started, and the official order was for all to run to the cave. I was a long affair and we got back to our bunk at 5 a. m. Some one woke us at six and gave us a bowl of chocolate, and our train left at 6:30 a. m. My white shoes being spotted with camphorated oil and blood, I undressed and took a taxi to the front, and took out brown shoes and sat on a truck near the track and changed them. We still had no dry pants, but buttoned up our capes and didn't care by that time. On reaching Paris I had five hours' sleep, and took a taxi to Mrs. Frederick's hotel, woke them up and Mrs. F. made me coffee and a hot bath, and I had a nice hot bath and got into bed. She darkened the room and I slept two hours, while she was waiting for me to say something to her. She had a delicious lunch sent up to me, which I ate in bed, then hurried into clean clothes, and by that time I got down stairs. She had a taxi here, and I went to the train. I was greatly refreshed by this little rest. We arrived here at 9 p. m. We have three evacuation hospitals and things are humming.

EXPECTED TRANSFER
Well, yesterday all our doctors and the whole force of men arrived on foot, having had to leave the following morning after five left, and continued to walk all the way. It took them a day and a half to place again. Our backs are already packed, and we are waiting for military autos to come for us. The next place we are going to is in a direct line to the goal, so unless our army stops them we won't be there long.

I am well, though very tired. My heart, too, is tired. I don't know how the French soldier has the heart to keep up the combat. I love every body. They talk little, fight hard, and suffer patiently. Our young American drivers have done wonderful work. They are under fire constantly at a time like this. Many have been killed or taken prisoner. I was both my brother and my short letters today. I didn't think I could write you at such length when I began, but I must stop now. The French stopped the dogs before, and I am sure with the night help of America, France can do it again. "Florence Bullard."

"Fordson Tractors" are here, and C. N. Priest, the Ford Man, will give a demonstration on the Bufile farm just west of Nichols Park on Friday and Saturday, July the 19th and 20th. Bring the family and stay all day.

We have had our little boy under different doctors care ever since he was born up to the present time. He is now 7 years old. He suffered very much with pains in the stomach and sides. Would have spells often when it would seem as if it was his last. He was weak, and had to dress and undress him. He could not stand any exercise and was not able to go to school and was very thin. A few months ago we took him to Dr. C. W. Carson, Chicago Specialist, and today he told us that we need not bring him back. For the last few months he has grown like a weed, and is now strong and can run a race as well as any boy. He is well in every way. (Signed) R. T. Miller, Concord.

PRESBYTERIAL INSTITUTE.

Dr. E. B. Landis and Dr. Walter E. Spoons will be in Arenzville this afternoon for the purpose of holding a Presbyterial Institute in the Presbyterial church there. There is in accordance with a plan whereby similar institutes are being held in all the churches of the various presbyteries. Rev. Mr. Landis, who is the chairman of the Jacksonville team, has arranged a series of meetings in the churches under his jurisdiction, the one at Arenzville being the first in the series. The movement is calculated to build up the churches and bring them into a closer relationship. The principal address will be made by Dr. Spoons and his theme will be "Church Activities." The ministers expect to return to the city in time to attend the union service at the Congregational church in the evening.

GOOD WHEAT YIELDS.

C. E. Reynolds, of Woodson, finished threshing twenty acres of wheat Saturday, on his farm, which yielded an average of forty-three bushels per acre. Mr. Ed. Ray, of the same vicinity, also completed his threshing of wheat, which produced an average of forty-one bushels to the acre. Most of the wheat in the vicinity is very good and the prospects for a good yield per acre is excellent.

G. L. James
Sheriff George L. Stice.

William A. Masters
Assessor and Treasurer Jerry Cox.
A. D. Arnold
Superintendent of Schools H. H. Vasconcellos.
Commissioner

No petitions thus far filed. The statement yesterday that Saturday was the last day for filling was erroneous and it should have been stated that it was the first day for filling and that candidates still have twenty days within which to file. The drawing for place on the ticket did not create the usual interest because there were no more than two candidates for any office except on the Republican ticket for the office of sheriff. However, in order that everything might be wholly satisfactory, County Clerk Buruff followed the plan outlined and had the petitions in envelopes drawn from a box and thus numbered.

Miss Helen Morris, stenographer in the office of County Agent Kendall, blindfolded, drew out the envelopes of all those who had been filed early Saturday morning. At this drawing there were but thirteen candidates. Later in the day six other petitions were filed. County Clerk Buruff did not file his own petition until that of Charles Seymour, his only rival for the nomination, had been filed, with the result that Mr. Seymour has first place and Mr. Buruff second.

Capt. J. M. Swales' candidacy was quite a surprise to most of his friends, and in fact the captain said last night that he really did not know who filed the petition. He indicated, however, that since the matter had gone thus far that he may not withdraw. The captain certainly has a record as a Republican and a citizen which will stand investigation.

LETTER FROM MR. PLATT.
Mr. Editor:

A very important election has been called for the 12th of August when the voters will decide whether or not the City of Jacksonville shall change from the present commission form of government to the mayor and aldermen form of government. The latter gives to cities a representative form of government, two aldermen from each ward, one of them to be elected each year, with a mayor elected for two years. This city would have eight aldermen—a real democracy, no taxation without representation—our present pro-German absolute form. The commissioners represent no one except themselves and if one of the people dares to suggest that they have some interest in the way the city is run they are met with a look which plainly says, "we are elected for four years, and what are you going to do about it?"

The commission form of government is out of harmony in a democracy. It is purely aristocratic—a government by the few. In Germany and even in England they have had that idea taught them as the best way, but Americans have no use for it. Some may think that other men could be elected that would do better, but the people did their best at the last election. The churches took a prominent part in the selection of candidates. The last Sunday before the primary the preacher at Centenary church read the names of the present council and said that a committee from the churches recommended those names be voted for. I voted for three of them and I think now if they had been elected for one or two years they would have made fairly good officials, but the four years was too great a temptation.

There is no private corporation that would hire a manager for four years unless they retained the right to discharge him if he did not make good. There is no use to say that the present board has made the city bankrupt, but they have done one thing—have proven that the commission form of government is a bad thing for our city. And it is the duty of all who love our home city to vote yes on the change.

MOTHERS MEETING AT NORTHMINSTER

The annual mothers' meeting of Northminster church was held at the church Thursday afternoon with a large number of ladies in attendance. Mrs. John Joaquin led the devotional. Mrs. A. P. Vasconcellos was the leader and gave an interesting talk on the Red Cross. Three little girls gave recitations. Mrs. Charles Pires sang, "Mother Mine." Mrs. W. E. Spoons accompanied. Rev. Spoons then addressed the mothers. Mrs. Goes, President, then took charge of the meeting and presided during the business session. A duet was given by Mrs. John Day and Mrs. Mary Baptist. When the roll call was called thirty-five responded. After the Mothers' program the July birth-day meeting of the society was held and a neat sum raised for the organization.

NEW BEEF RULINGS FOR ILLINOIS

Restaurants Can Serve Beef Now Once a Day, Is Food Administration Edict.

Restaurants thruout Illinois are to serve beef only once a day hereafter. This change from the former plan of four "beefless" days a week has been made because of a request from the office of Herbert Hoover, Federal Food Administrator, who wishes the regulations in all states to be uniform.

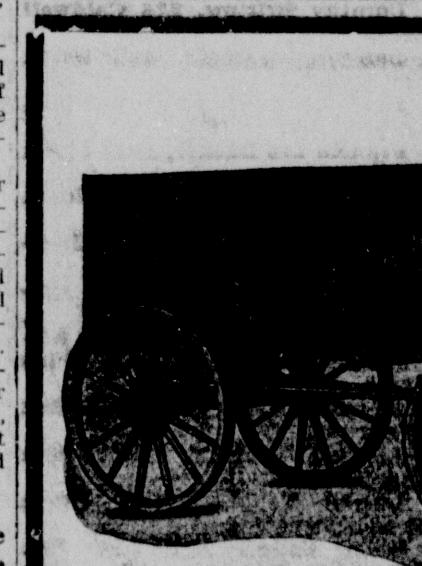

Steaks and beef roasts will be placed on noonday bills of fare on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday of each week, from 10:30 to 9 o'clock, according to the new ruling. On the remaining days beef is to be served at the evening meals from 5 to 9 o'clock.

By-products of beef, such as ox tails, tongues, sweetbreads, hearts, kidneys, brains, tripe, feet, barreled beef, potted beef, beef loaf, chili con carne, and beef trimmings may be served at any time. Beef trimmings are made into sausage bologna, and frankfurters which need not be conserved.

OLIVER H. CULLY DIES AT HIS HOME SATURDAY

Pneumonia Causes Death of Civil War Veteran and Long time Resident of Jacksonville and Morgan County—Funeral Monday.

Oliver H. Cully, a civil war veteran, and one of the respected citizens of Jacksonville passed away Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his home at 279 Sandusky street, after an illness of but few days duration from pneumonia, at the age of 86 years, 2 months and 13 days.

Deceased was born near Connersville, Fayette county, Indiana, April 30, 1832, the son of Wallace and Mary Cully. He came with his parents to Illinois in 1852, driving thru in a wagon. The family settled on the old home place, six miles northeast of Jacksonville.

Mr. Cully as married the 23rd of November, 1855 to Elvira J. Green, daughter of Stephen and Cynthia Green and to them were born seven children, four boys and three girls. He was preceded in death by his wife and one daughter Clara B., the living children being Charles W., Homer G., Lena A., Mrs. A. D. Arnold of Arnold Station, Edgar O., Eva E., Mrs. J. C. Strawn and Howard S.

When the Civil war broke out Mr. Cully enlisted in Company K, 101st Illinois Infantry, under Captain Sylvester Moore, and honorably served his country in her time of deepest need. Enlisting August 7, 1862 he served three years, receiving his discharge at Washington, D. C., in June, 1865.

After the war Mr. Cully returned to Morgan county and settled down to the duties of civilian life. He followed the occupation of his father and in due time owned one of the finest farms in the state. Some years ago he began to have poor health and owing also to his years was unable to carry on his farm to his satisfaction so he gave it over to his sons and moved to Jacksonville in 1903 and has lived here since.

He united with the Christian church in early manhood and has always lived a consistent Christian life. He had the esteem of a large circle of friends who will learn of his death with regret.

The funeral will be held at the residence, 279 Sandusky street, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
